

My life My Legacy

"I get to work on something that impacts humanity."

Juan Reynaud, lead hardware and software developer at Legacy Devers Eye Institute and information technology manager at Legacy Research Institute, is grateful for his role within the Devers team researching ways to help prevent blindness.

"It would be difficult to find a more rewarding job. I could work as an engineer at other organizations, but at Legacy, I get to do work that impacts humanity."

Juan also likes to be creative at home — from playing Legos with his son to cooking traditional dishes inspired by his childhood in Honduras.

"Everything I do, I do for my family."

This is his life. And this is his Legacy

Our legacy is yours.
